Florida takes gun protest to streets

By Jason Dearen, Allen Breed and Tamara Lush
The Associated Press

PARKLAND, FLA. » Thousands of angry students, parents and residents demanded stricter gun control laws Saturday as new details were revealed about the suspect accused of shooting and killed 17 people in a Florida high school.

The rally, held in downtown Fort Lauderdale, was attended by scores of students from Marjory

Stoneman Douglas High School, where the carnage happened.

Teens spoke passionately during Saturday's rally in front of the federal courthouse, pleading with lawmakers to change the nation's gun laws.

One student, Emma Gonzalez, angrily criticized politicians who take campaign contributions from the National Rifle Association. She challenged them to stop taking money, leading the crowd in a call-and-response chant.

"They say a good guy with a gun stops a bad guy with a gun," she said, and the crowd chanted, "We call BS."

She also said adults who knew that the shooter was mentally ill should have done more to prevent him from having a weapon.

From a mosaic of public records, interviews with friends and family and online interactions, it appears that Cruz was unstable and violent to himself and

Proposed Bluff Trail Project discussed

Nearly 2-mile stretch would connect Glen Cove with South Vallejo

Living in an urban area with so many cars and byways, it's often hard to see the spaces between, the roads less traveled, if you will — trails and paths for hiking, walking, biking, and rolling.

There are three main regional trails that meander through Benicia and Vallejo, some of which can take an intrepid walker or biker all the way to Sacramento.

These paths are especially significant when you realize how complicated it is to create official trails. Things like land-use issues, wildlife concerns, accessibility, fire hazards and cost all factor into developing them.

Randy Anderson, landscape architect and owner of TrailPeople, is the self-described "grant money grubber" for the newly proposed Vallejo Bluff Trail Project. As a consultant, it's his job to work with the city's planning division to bring a new stretch of trail to south Vallejo. If completed, the trail would connect the Bay/Ridge Trail on the bluff off the Carquinez Strait all the way to Maritme Academy Drive.

"Trails are wildly popular," he told an assembled crowd of about 25 on Saturday morning at the Norman King Center. The audience was there to hear more about the project, explore detailed maps, ask questions, and give feedback. "No matter what the weather is, people like to hike on them, especially with an early spring like we seem to be having," he quipped.

How's Bill Maher for a relationship test?

Julie Spira of Marina del Rey wanted to watch Maher's cable political talk show. Her boyfriend "didn't want to watch anything with a liberal slant," she said.

Politics went from being rarely discussed to causing a major schism between the liberal Spira and her partner, who wished President Donald Trump a happy birthday on social media. The couple — who had fallen in love at first sight, spent seven years together, broken up and then re-connected — went their separate ways shortly after Inauguration Day.

The Trump era's effect on romance is something Spira, a
